Centenary's Consent Form For Children.

Introduction.

Centenary offers you, as parents of children under 13 years of age, the option to provide a verifiable consent for your child to use our web site. We provide a special emphasis with regard to protecting the privacy and safety of our Centenary young people. For this reason, we ask for your close attention and understanding with regard to this special policy concerning communications via the Internet. Please consider all of the ramifications of allowing your child to venture out with this responsibility. It can be a valuable learning experience, or it can be a disappointing one if proper parental guidance is not maintained.

Accordingly, if you want to provide a consent for your child to use the Centenary web site, as well as consent to our collection and use of his or her personally identifiable information, complete the attached form, sign where indicated and mail it to Centenary's Senior Administrator at the Church Office. If you wish to put on the record for the time being a denial of consent, or to request removal of your child's information, simply send an email message to us.
